Implications of the 2025 German Federal Election

#EBDGrifik

Important for European Movement Germany

- The new German government must shape German European-policy on the basis of the European-policy positions of the election programs of the governmental parties.
- The new coalition agreement must set out a clear European agenda, a German European plan, and redefine the structure of German European-policy.
- German European-policy must be visible as a cross-cutting issue and not as a “preamble” in the coalition agreement.
